

LEGACY VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

During World War 11, Camp Toccoa “welcomed” 18,000 soldiers who volunteered to become part of the Paratrooper Infantry Regiments who trained on Currahee Mountain. Of that number, only 6,000 successfully completed the course and became the “Toccoa Men”. The accounts of their service to their country around the world are the things that books and movies have made famous. As years pass, it becomes more critical that we remember these courageous men and their “Legacy of Leadership”.

Celebrating the Legacy of Leadership is the mission of Camp Toccoa at Currahee. To provide a “Camp Toccoa Experience” for our visitors and tell the stories of the “Toccoa Men”, we need Legacy Volunteers to bring Camp Toccoa alive again! If you have a few hours each month and are interested in an exciting chance to meet visitors from around the world, WE NEED YOU!!!!

There are many opportunities for you and training will be provided. Here are some services needed:

- Tour guides – greet visitors and tell the Camp Toccoa Stories
- Gift shop assistants
- Social media hosts
- Website design
- Special event coordinators – D-Day Weekend
- Maintenance staff – grass cutting, cleaning, painting, carpentry, etc.
- Museum curator – procurement, inventory, lighting, exhibit set up
- Other – you tell us!
